

Mid-point Review & Response John 1-11

JURY

You are compelled to come. Hear the testimonies and the claims, see the signs and the evidence. Once you have seen and heard, John leaves no space as middle ground. You must make your decision: Who is Jesus, and how are you going to respond to this revelation?

WEDDING

John announces that God is coming to live with His people and unite Himself to them. He invites you to celebrate and to find that you're not simply a guest but desired as a participant in making this covenant.

TEA/COFFEE DATE

In John, Jesus has one-on-one conversations with many people. He reveals the truth and shows His care for them. Jesus wants to meet with you personally, too. He loves you and wants to make special times for you to spend together.

STAGE PERFORMANCE

The revelation of Jesus is a spectacle. John presents us the opportunity to see through His eyes and experience. Come and see the glory and majesty of the Living One, finally exalted (lifted up) in frailty. God displays His glory through ordinary humans.
